NPS Corporation Acquires Mayflower (UK) Limited, trading as Lubetech

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE January 30th, 2017

(From Green Bay, Wisconsin, USA and Hedge End, Hampshire, UK) – Green Bay-based NPS Corporation, a market leading Spill Control and Towel and Tissue products manufacturer, announced today it has acquired Mayflower (UK), which trades under the well-known UK spill control brand Lubetech. Based in Hampshire, UK, Lubetech offers a broad range of industrial spill control consumables and equipment.

Founded in 1996, Lubetech specializes in the development and distribution of a variety of innovative and market leading sorbents and other spill control products, helping industry protect their business, health & safety requirements and the environment from contamination by fluid spills.

The acquisition of Lubetech, together with its established distributor customer base and well-respected brand, greatly strengthens NPS' presence in the UK and all of Europe. "Lubetech has a well-deserved reputation for high-quality, innovative products and exceptional customer service," said NPS CEO Andy Hetzel Jr. "This acquisition represents a marriage of Lubetech's outstanding sales and marketing team to NPS' outstanding manufacturing team. We are very excited about what this allows Lubetech to bring to the table in both the UK and other European markets."

"I am delighted Lubetech has been acquired by NPS. I am proud of the company we have built and I believe with NPS' manufacturing capabilities, Lubetech will be an even stronger company," said Richard Ghinn, founder of Lubetech.

"I look forward to leading the Lubetech team. I have every confidence this acquisition will facilitate even faster growth for Lubetech", said Neil Barron, Managing Director of Lubetech.

The terms of the acquisition have not been disclosed.

NPS was founded in 1996, with the purchase of a small, specialty packaging business from Kimberly-Clark Corporation. Since the very beginning, NPS' passion is to provide the best customer care possible. Through numerous acquisitions and organic growth, NPS has broadened its bundle of products and customer base to become a worldwide leader in Spill Control Products and is a fast growing player in the North American Away From Home Towel and Tissue marketplace.

About NPS Corporation: NPS Corporation is a privately held corporation based in Green Bay, Wisconsin. NPS offers a full line of spill control products that are distributed in more than 46 countries worldwide. NPS markets its towel and tissue products throughout North America. NPS Brands include Merfin, Response, Retain, React, Spilfyter and Sustayn by Spilfyter.
